LOOSE TALK

WHAT THE STARS SAID THIS WEEK

"Avril Lavigne. And a poster of dogs. I wasn't cool."

When asked what posters she had in her room growing up

JENNIFER LAWRENCE

"This one was not intentional, but here we go!"

On expecting baby No. 3

CLAIRE DANES

"Trust me, y'all [will] get a TikTok afterwards where I can let ya'll know what really went down. I'll be honest."

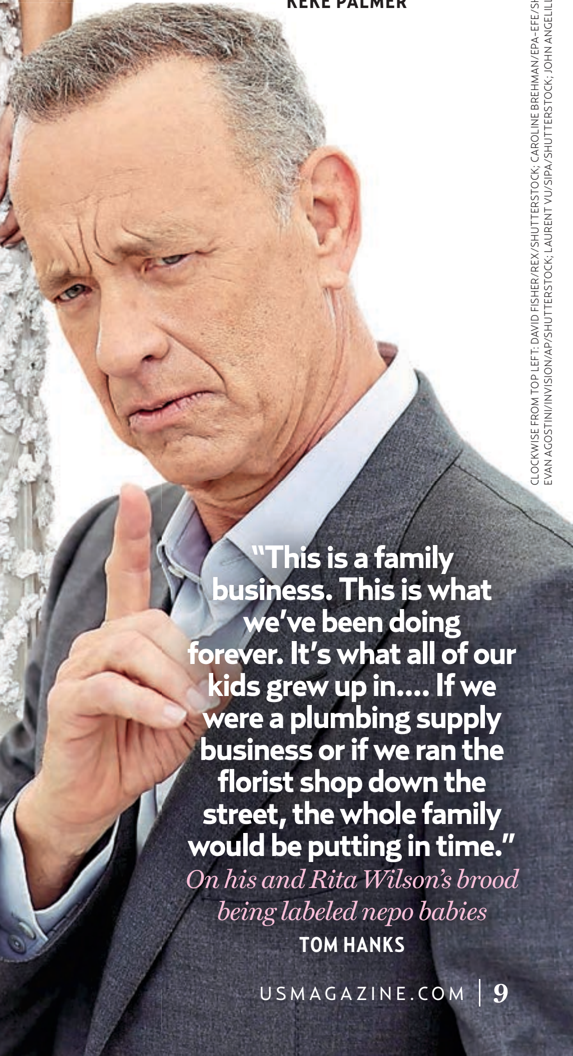
On giving birth

KEKE PALMER

"In my early 20s, I was very into vests, and I would wear them with leggings and boots. I was very confused. Recently, I saw some old photos and I said, 'Who let me do this?' I looked like Peter Pan's psychotic cousin."

On her worst style moment

ZOË KRAVITZ



"This is a family business. This is what we've been doing forever. It's what all of our kids grew up in.... If we were a plumbing supply business or if we ran the florist shop down the street, the whole family would be putting in time."

A DAY IN MY LIFE

Selling Sunset's Mary Fitzgerald shares her daily routine with Us!

7:00 A.M.

COUNTER PRODUCTIVE To start her morning, Fitzgerald tells Us she beelines to the kitchen: "I immediately make some coffee."

8:00 A.M.

EARLY RIDER "After a cup of joe, I usually head straight into my workout," the Selling Sunset star, 42, says. "I [typically] use my exercise bike, but sometimes I enjoy lifting weights."

9:00 A.M.

ZEN MASTER A fully focused Fitzgerald makes sure to unplug in peace. "I love my meditation station," she explains, "and try to incorporate this into my days as much as possible."

10:00 A.M.

DOOR PRIZE She means business: Next up, "time for work!" the L.A.-based real estate agent tells Us. "I get ready and head into the office — or jump over to show some listings."

6:00 P.M.

CHOP TO IT When she's finally off the clock, Fitzgerald happily gets cookin': "I love to unwind after a long day of work by making my hunny [husband Romain Bonnet] and I dinner."

7:00 P.M.

KICKING BACK Before bed, "Romain and I love to cuddle on the couch, watch our favorite show and just be with each other," the TV personality says of their nightcap. "It's how we rest and recharge."

HGTV's Down Home Fab, starring Houska and DeBoer, 34, "shows how our family is," she says. "I feel very proud of it."

Package Deal

Chelsea Houska and her brood — Aubree, 13, Watson, 5, Layne, 4, and 23-month-old Walker — return to TV in Down Home Fab, which follows the Teen Mom 2 alum and husband Cole DeBoer's renovating business. "It was a little nerve-racking putting ourselves out there again," Houska, 31, tells Us. "I'm excited to show a different side of us." Here, the reality star talks motherhood.

Q: What's the biggest challenge about parenting a teenager?

Aubree wants to go hang out at the mall with her friends without us, and it's like, what are you supposed to do? My parents dropped me off at the mall [at her age], but I don't know the new rules. [Then] I'm like, wait, we have to make the rules. It's hard to give her a little bit of independence.

Q: Have your kids shown an interest in home renovation or design?

Aubree was telling us that she wants to redo her room and had a very specific aesthetic. I was very proud because it wasn't what I would have normally picked for a teen girl, but she has her own look and vibe.

Q: How has your parenting style changed since having four kids?

If they're fighting and no blood is drawn, you guys got it under control!

By Leanne Aciz Stanton / With reporting by Christina Garibaldi

BETTER TOGETHER

For Kenya Moore, being separated from daughter Brooklyn, 4, was the most "mentally challenging" part of participating in Special Forces: World's Toughest Test. "It was really hard for me to be away from her and so far, and not have any control over when I would see her again," the TV personality, 51, tells Us. "In other shows I've done outside of Real Housewives, I was able to communicate with her, and she was in the same city as me." (The Fox competition series filmed in Jordan.) Still, Moore, who shares Brooklyn with ex Marc Daly, went into the experience motivated by her little girl: "I wanted to show [her] that Mommy is a badass and to know that you can overcome any obstacle, any fear," she continues. "I wanted to walk the walk." Brooklyn is currently thriving at her international school, where she's already speaking fluent Spanish. "I am completely blown away by how intelligent she is. She's articulate, intuitive and kind," Moore adds. "She's stolen my heart — and I don't think I'll ever get it back."

"I'm so in love with my daughter," Moore gushes.

Full House

Catelynn Lowell's family of five is complete. "Every now and then, I'll see a baby, and I'm like, oh my gosh, my ovaries!" the Teen Mom: Family Reunion star, 30 (who shares Nova, 8, Vaeda, 3, and 17-month-old Rya with hubby Tyler Baltierra, 31), admits to Us. But reality quickly sets in: "Then I come home and there's pure chaos, and I'm like, yeah, we're done."

Good Company

Alexia Echevarria makes sure to stay in the same orbit as her adult kids, Peter, 30, and Frankie, 25. (Dad is ex Peter Rosello Sr.) "My boys are a very big part of my life," the Real Housewives of Miami star, 55, tells Us. Considering both sons are involved in her Beauty Bar business, it's easy to keep connected: "I have a very close relationship with both of them."

Jean Paul Gaultier
"OFF"

"They've been friends for years and she's super comfortable with him," an insider says of Larsa and Marcus (in Miami on Jan. 7).

MARCUS & LARSA

A Slam Dunk

After months of playing it coy, Larsa Pippen, 48, and Marcus Jordan, 32, confirmed their rumored romance when they were snapped kissing in Miami on Jan. 7. "They're crazy about each other," an insider tells Us of the RHOM star and the son of NBA legend Michael Jordan. "It's a go-with-the-flow situation right now, but they're having a blast, and their chemistry is off the charts." Although some feared there could be drama — Larsa's ex Scottie Pippen played on the Bulls with Marcus' dad and bashed him in his recent memoir — the insider insists that's not the case. "It's really no big deal. Michael says Marcus is a big boy who can make his own decisions."

By Isley Zegas / With reporting by Travis Cronin & James Robertson

KATE & JUSTIN

Bright Future

There's no denying that Kate Bosworth and Justin Long are head over heels. "Justin adores Kate and she thinks he's the smartest man in the world," an insider tells Us of the Dodgeball star, 44, and the Blue Crush actress, 40. "They really respect each other and love that they can talk about anything." Although they've only been dating since last March, a proposal isn't out of the question. Adds the insider: "Their friends and family would be thrilled if they got engaged soon!"

CAREY & PINK

Meant to Be

After 17 years of marriage, Pink and Carey Hart are still "best friends and partners in crime," a source tells Us, adding that the singer, 43, and the former motocross racer, 47 — who celebrated their anniversary on Jan. 7 — have a happy home life. "They're both so active and outdoorsy. They love to ride ATVs and bikes on the weekends with their kids [Willow, 11, and Jameson, 6]." And most importantly, "they support each other," adds the source. "And divvy up chores really well, too!"

Changed Man

Will Alba Baptista, 25, be the one who makes Chris Evans, 41, settle down for good? "This is the most committed he's ever been," a source tells Us. "Chris has got the T-shirt as far as playing the field goes. He's ready to close that chapter."

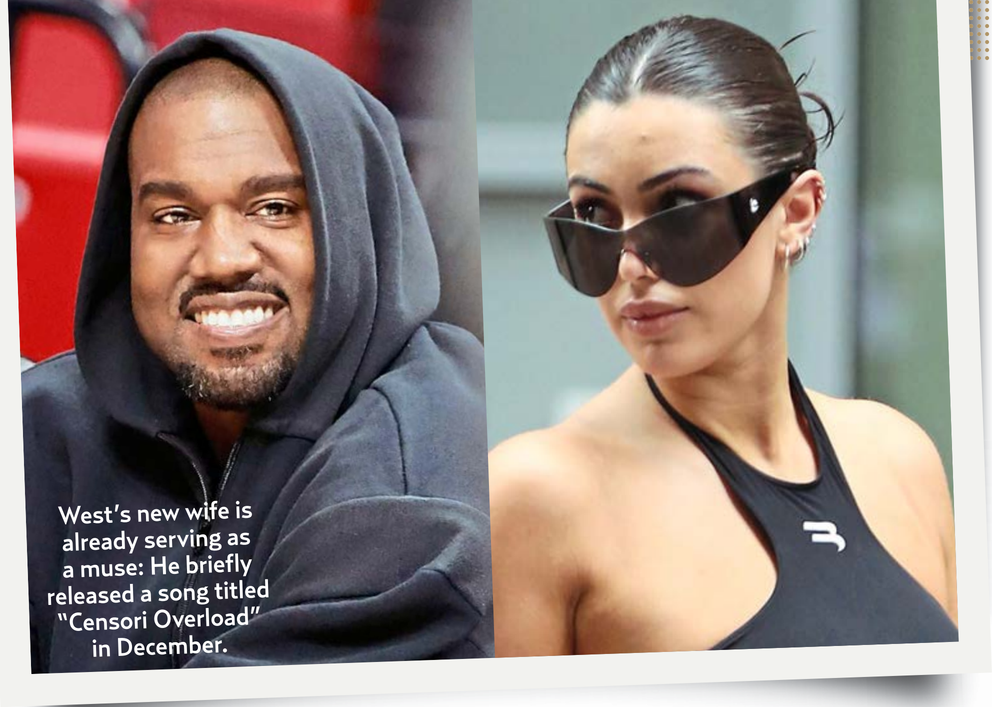
Meghan "never gave Kate the benefit of the doubt to make it right," a source tells Us.

MEGHAN & KATE

Crossed Lines

Sources share the sisters-in-law's real source of friction

The infamous bridal bust-up between Meghan Markle and Princess Kate — in which Kate expressed her concern over the bridesmaid dresses for Meghan's 2018 wedding to Prince Harry — was a result of the women's wildly different personalities. "The way Meghan interpreted it was not the intention. It was meant to be a minor conversation," a source tells Us, adding that both women believed they were in the right. Kate, 41, "is very shy, and it takes a while for her to open up," notes the source. "Meghan took that as being cold, and that was not the case." Still, the damage was done. In Spare, Harry, 38, recounts Meghan, 41, and Kate's terse texts and claims he found his wife "sobbing" on the floor following the squabble. The exchange was an inevitable "culmination" of many issues between the sisters-in-law, says another insider: "They'd been having tensions, and this was the boiling point." According to a third source, Harry's estranged family is "furious" he published "abbreviated excerpts" concerning the incident. But despite causing further strain to the royals, "Harry," adds the third source, "feels strongly it's important to get the true account of what happened out there."



West's new wife is already serving as a muse: He briefly released a song titled "Censori Overload" in December.

KANYE WEST

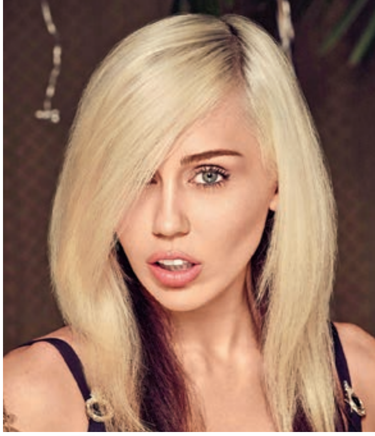
Surprise Nuptials

Love locked down? Kanye West quietly sealed the deal with Yeezy architectural designer Bianca Censori in a "small marriage ceremony," a source tells Us. "Friends don't know if it's legal, but it's very real to them." On Jan. 8, the controversial rapper, 45, was spotted wearing a band on his ring finger as he and a newly blond Censori, 27 — who hails from Melbourne, Australia, and has worked for West's company since 2020 — dined at the Waldorf Astoria Beverly Hills hotel. (The couple reportedly spent their honeymoon at Amangiri, a luxury resort in Utah.) Though the source notes that those in West's inner circle are "sure this is a publicity stunt," there's no denying that the dad of four (he shares North, 9, Saint, 7, Chicago, 4, and Psalm, 3, with ex-wife Kim Kardashian) is smitten: "He and Bianca have been spending so much time together and really fell in fast."

Robach and Holmes have each reportedly lawyered up to deal with network negotiations.

Dramatic Departure

» Gone for good: According to multiple sources, Amy Robach and T.J. Holmes will not return to GMA after being yanked off the air amid an internal investigation into their affair. "Amy and T.J. are out; a decision has been made," an insider tells Us. "The network is negotiating with them on their exit deals and an announcement." Despite the unceremonious exit, Robach, 49, and Holmes, 45, are "sticking together" in light of their career crisis, a source previously shared. "Amy and T.J. [don't] think their romance should have to do with our jobs," stated the source. "They have done so well for ABC over the years."



KEEPING UP WITH US

- Can't be tamed! On Jan. 13, Miley Cyrus (above) released a new song, "Flowers," seemingly inspired by her failed marriage to Liam Hemsworth on the actor's birthday.

"They're two incurable romantics who fell in love at first sight," a source says of Pelphrey and Cuoco (at the Golden Globes on Jan. 10).

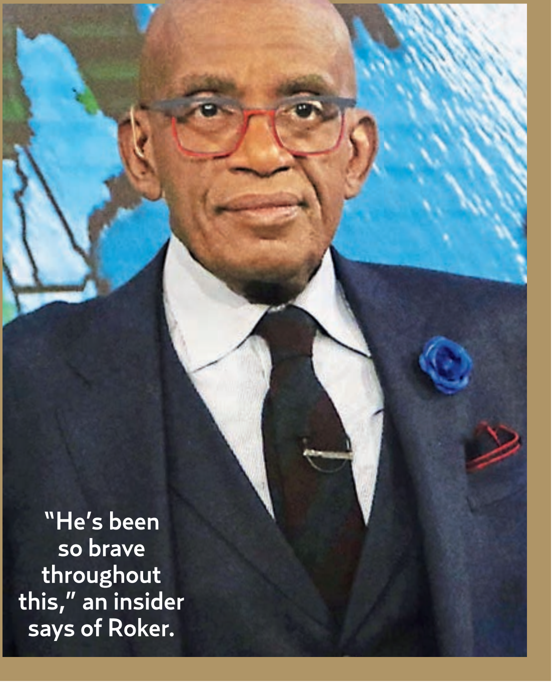
KALEY CUOCO

Baby Bliss

With only a few more months to go until she meets her baby girl, Kaley Cuoco couldn't be more excited. "She had a tough first trimester with morning sickness, but she powered through it and built up a lot more strength," a source tells Us. "Now Kaley is full of energy and doing just great as she approaches her third trimester." According to the source, Cuoco, 37, is due in late spring — and both she and beau Tom Pelphrey, 40, are counting down the days. "They just had their baby shower and it was so much fun. Everyone celebrated in style," says the source, hinting that an engagement could be on the horizon. "They're trying not to get too far ahead of themselves, but everything is unfolding like a fairy tale. It's almost surreal to them how perfect their life is right now."

A New Lease on Life

» It's been less than two weeks since Al Roker returned to Today after a monthslong medical hiatus. Although his recovery is far from over, an insider tells Us that the beloved weatherman — who battled deep vein thrombosis — is counting his blessings. "Al's recent hospitalization was very scary. He knows he's lucky to be alive," says the insider, noting that Roker, 68, is currently following his doctors' orders, participating in physiotherapy and staying as active as possible — but also making sure not to overdo it at home or at work. "Al's so happy to be back on the air. It's a privilege for him to be doing what he loves and working alongside folks who he considers family."



"He's been so brave throughout this," an insider says of Roker.

The Truth About Titanic

Us spills behind-the-scenes facts about the hit 1997 film ahead of its big return to theaters on Feb. 10

1 It's hard to imagine anyone but Leonardo DiCaprio and Kate Winslet playing Jack and Rose. But that was almost the case: Johnny Depp and Gwyneth Paltrow both turned down the starring roles!

Is there anything James Cameron can't do? In addition to directing, writing and producing the blockbuster, the Oscar winner also sketched that nude portrait of Rose wearing nothing but the Heart of the Ocean. In fact, he's said to have drawn all the pictures in Jack's sketchbook.

3 "I'm the king of the world!" The now-iconic line that an invincible Jack shouts while at the ship's bow "was made up on the spot," Cameron's admitted. "We were losing the light… and nothing was really working, and I literally was just coming up snake eyes, and I said… 'Just say, "I'm the king of the world."' [DiCaprio] goes, 'What?' I said, 'Just fking sell it!'"

The actual Titanic sank on a cold April night in the North Atlantic Ocean, but the film's water scenes were shot in Mexico in a 17-million-gallon pool known as a horizon tank. "The water in the tank was about 80 degrees," said Cameron. "All of the cold, frigid breath was added later."

5 "My Heart Will Go On" almost wasn't in the film! According to reports, Cameron only wanted instrumental music in the movie out of fear he'd be criticized for "going commercial." But after hearing Céline Dion's powerful ballad, he changed his tune.

She's the ONE

Sources tell Us the A-list star is ready to take things to the next level with his hot new leading lady

BY JAIME HARKIN

Heating up! After spending Christmas together in L.A., Brad Pitt and girlfriend Ines de Ramon jetted to Mexico, where they rang in the New Year at a swanky Cabo San Lucas resort. On Dec. 31, a shirtless Pitt and de Ramon — who went topless and wore a blue and white sarong tied around her waist — were spotted lounging in the sun and chatting poolside. "They had a wonderful holiday," says a source.

As Us previously reported, things have been getting serious between the actor, who turns 60 this December, and the jewelry designer since they were first photographed attending a Bono concert in mid-November. (de Ramon, who is reported to be in her early 30s, was also Pitt's plus-one at the L.A. premiere party for Babylon last month.) Now, sources say Pitt is head over heels for de Ramon and is ready to settle down with someone for the first time since his 2016 split from Angelina Jolie. "Brad's been telling everyone that he and Ines are exclusive," says the source, adding that he's even considering having a child with her. "It's always been his dream to have a big family," continues the source. (Pitt shares six kids — Maddox, 21, Pax, 19, “Brad sees the potential for something long-term with Ines,” says a source.

Zahara, 17, Shiloh, 16, and 14-year-old twins Knox and Vivienne — with Jolie.) “He’s definitely open to taking the next step, and Ines is as well.” An insider agrees: “[Brad] feels he’s made some mistakes when it comes to being a father. So it would be nice to have another chance.”

IN SYNC

Pitt has already introduced de Ramon to his closest friends. “Ines is a big hit with all of Brad’s pals,” shares the source. (They were seen hanging out with supermodel Cindy Crawford and her husband Rande Gerber backstage at the Bono show.) And she’s met some of his family members back home in Missouri via Zoom. “They’ve done a few meet and greets, and they’re looking forward to getting to know her more,” dishes the source. “Things are moving pretty quickly, but neither Brad nor Ines sees any need to hold back.”

In December, a source told Us Pitt and de Ramon enjoy cozy date nights at his swanky Los Feliz home.

Despite their age difference, the source says they have a lot in common. “Like Brad, Ines is big into music, fashion, travel and the arts. She’s also a hard worker with a sharp take on things, and Brad looks to her for advice about his business deals and things like home décor.” In 2017, Pitt revealed he’d gotten sober, and the source says that although de Ramon likes to occasionally “cut loose and have fun,” she is “by no means a party animal.” The generation gap hasn’t been an issue — so far. “Brad may be closing in on 60, but he’s got more energy than ever,” says the source. “He’s really reaped a lot of physical benefits since getting sober and is in phenomenal shape.”

They both bring some baggage to the table. Pitt’s still locked in a heated legal war with Jolie over custody of their younger kids and Château Miraval, the French winery they once owned together. The source says the Eternals actress is aware of his new romance with “[Brad] wants to do better as a dad and see his kids more, but there are legal reasons he’s not able to see them as much as he’d like,” says an insider.

Making Peace

Ready for a truce? Their court battle continues to rage on, but a source tells Us Jolie is actually eager to wrap things up with her ex. “Despite certain assertions that she’s dragging things out with Brad, Angelina maintains that she wants to move on,” says the source of the actress, who’s been leaning on her kids throughout the yearslong ordeal. “She [still] wants Brad to take some responsibility and not try to wriggle out of any blame, but peace is the ultimate desire.”

de Ramon. "Angelina doesn't like to admit it, but everyone knows she keeps close tabs on what Brad's up to," spills the source. "There's not a whole lot she'll be able to do if and when he decides to introduce Ines to the kids, especially now they're old enough to make their own decisions about this type of thing."

De Ramon, meanwhile, is still technically married to actor Paul Wesley — she and the Vampire Diaries star separated in September 2022 after three years of marriage. According to the insider, they're on decent terms. "Paul and Ines have a good relationship; their separation was amicable," explains the source. "Paul has no problem with Brad and Ines because they've been apart for a while, and they agreed they can see other people during the separation." (Wesley has been linked to model Natalie Kuckenburg since they were seen vacationing in Italy in early November.) The source says they still plan to officially divorce, but "they've just been busy and hadn't made it a priority."

BIG STEP

Pitt once said he wanted a soccer team of kids. "He wasn't joking," says the source, noting that the Bullet Train actor would be happy with one or two more. "Brad's wonderful with [children], and he's more than willing to knuckle down and raise another baby if and when he's lucky enough to have one." De Ramon could be the one to make his dream come true. Adds the source: "She has all the qualities he's looking for in a woman." US

OLDER DADS

These stars are embracing fatherhood in their 60s and beyond!

FLEA

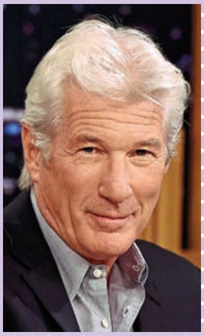
"I'm very happy," gushed the Red Hot Chili Peppers bassist — who's close pals with Pitt — after welcoming his first baby with wife Melody Ehsani in mid-December, weeks after his 60th birthday.

ALEC BALDWIN

Full house! Baldwin's had four children since turning 60 in 2018. (He shares seven kids ranging from age 9 to 4 months with wife Hilaria and daughter Ireland, 26, with ex Kim Basinger.)

RICHARD GERE

Gere was 69 when his wife Alejandra Silva gave birth to their first child together in 2019 (he's also the father of adult son Homer), and 70 when they welcomed their second.



STEVE MARTIN

The actor has no regrets about waiting until age 67 to become a dad (he and wife Anne Stringfield had their daughter in 2012). "If I'd had a child earlier, I would have been a lousy father," he's said.

DAVID FOSTER

The music producer — who was 71 when he became a dad for the sixth time after he and wife Katharine McPhee welcomed son Ren in 2021 — said one perk is that he has more free time now to devote to parenthood.

ELTON JOHN

"We can give these children so much love," said John of his decision to finally embrace fatherhood with longtime partner David Furnish at the ripe old age of 64. (He and Furnish are dads to Zachary, 11, and Elijah, 9.)

A Life Cut Short

Fans and loved ones are left stunned and heartbroken after the sudden death of Lisa Marie Presley

BY ISLEY ZEGAS

It was an important night. On Jan. 10, Lisa Marie Presley attended the Golden Globes alongside mom Priscilla and her late father Elvis' close friend, Jerry Schilling. "She looked a bit frail and was holding on to someone's arm when she walked," an onlooker said of Lisa Marie, who was there in support of Baz Luhrmann's Elvis biopic. Despite reports that she appeared unsteady on her feet, "everyone hoped it was just a case of her being

"I knew that I was loved. There was no doubt about that," Lisa Marie (here, in 1970 with her parents) once said of her dad.

"There was a lot of talk that something was off," an insider tells Us of Lisa Marie's final public appearance at the Golden Globes on Jan. 10.

With reporting by Travis Cronin, Rick Egusquiza, Christina Garibaldi, James Robertson & Andrea Simpson

In August, Lisa Marie confessed that she blamed herself "every single day" for Benjamin's 2020 death.

tired or overwhelmed," notes an insider, "especially since she was in good spirits."

Just two days later, Lisa Marie was found unresponsive in her Calabasas, Calif., home after suffering cardiac arrest. Though EMTs were able to regain a pulse before transporting her to a nearby hospital, the singer-songwriter was later pronounced dead. She was just 54 years old. "It's sad but not surprising," a source tells Us, noting that the mom of four had been on "a slow, downward spiral" following the 2020 suicide of her son, Benjamin, 27. (She shared daughter Riley, 33, with former husband Danny Keough and twins Harper and Finley, 14, with ex-hubby Michael Lockwood.) "Elvis was a bright spot for Lisa. She enjoyed being back in the mix of Hollywood, and Priscilla thought it would turn things around for her," says the source. "Unfortunately, Lisa [was] still trying to overcome her demons."

LOSS & GRIEF

Lisa Marie was only 9 when her father, the "King of Rock 'n' Roll," died unexpectedly at the age of 42. "It devastated her that Elvis was taken away from the family [so] young," recalls the insider. "She was very much her father's daughter in terms of kindness and star power. But she also had the same self-destructive streak."

In the years that followed, Lisa Marie's life was riddled with heartache (including failed marriages to Michael Jackson and Nicolas Cage) and terrifying addiction issues. "I just couldn't be sober," she admitted in a 2003 interview. "I don't know how I lived through it."

Lisa Marie found it hard to beat her demons — reportedly checking into rehab at least five times over the years — and they seemingly continued to haunt her in her final days. "She [was] still drinking a lot," says the source. "It was believed she'd cleaned up her act some years ago, [but] it seems that she was struggling," adds the insider, pointing to Benjamin's death. "It broke Lisa Marie, and it's fair to say she never really recovered." After decades of hard living, "her body probably just gave out," suspects a second source. "One can only do it for so long."

LOOKING AHEAD

As the world waits for answers, Lisa Marie's loved ones are trying to process that she's gone. Priscilla, 77, "is in pieces. She wants to stay strong and hold the family together, but it's so hard," says the insider, noting that Lisa Marie's daughter Riley is by her side. "She dropped everything to help with the arrangements."

Lisa Marie will be buried at Graceland in Memphis, Tenn., next to her "beloved" son, Riley's rep tells Us. "There will be a very special send-off, and everyone will ensure her legacy lives on," promises the insider. Even though it will take time for her family to heal, "they all take comfort in knowing that she's up there in heaven with Elvis and Ben."

Hollywood Remembers Lisa Marie

"Lisa had the greatest laugh of anyone I ever met. She lit up every room, and I am heartbroken. I find some solace believing she is reunited with her son Benjamin."

NICOLAS CAGE

"Lisa baby girl, I'm so sorry. I'll miss you but I know I'll see you again."

JOHN TRAVOLTA

"My heart is completely shattered… I am eternally grateful for the time I was lucky enough to be near her bright light and will forever cherish the quiet moments we shared. Her warmth, her love, and her authenticity will always be remembered."

AUSTIN BUTLER

"There is heartbreak and then there is sorrow. This would be sorrow and on more levels than I can count."

BILLY CORGAN

"I'm heartbroken… Lisa did not have an easy life, as some might think. May she be at peace."

LEAH REMINI

"Lisa Marie, you were one of a kind. Funny as st, smart as a whip, sensitive, talented, witty… loyal, and you adored your children.…The world lost a rare gem today."

Going to the DOGS!

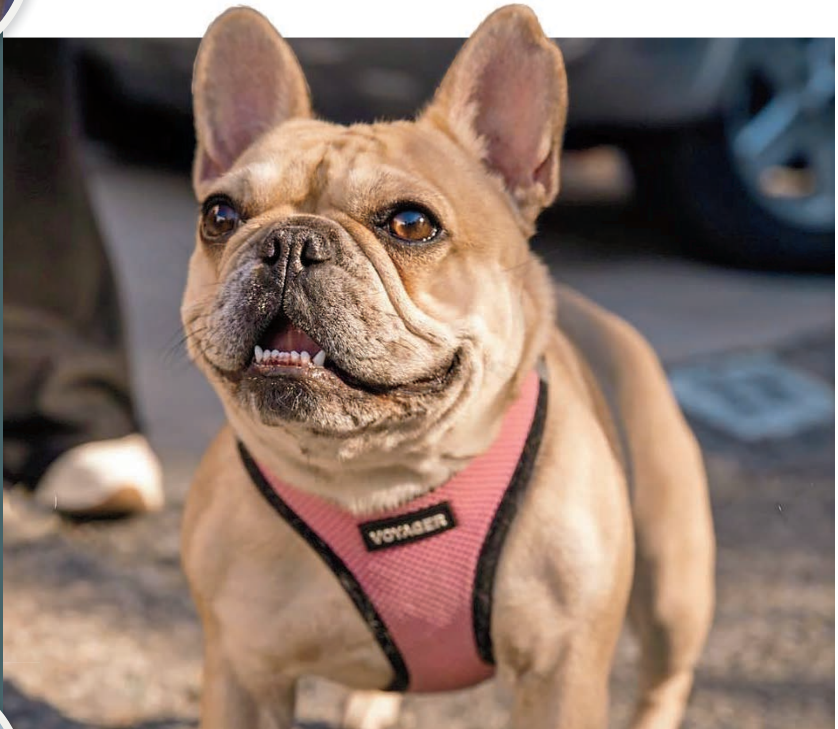
When celebs split, ill will can spark canine custody wars over who gets to keep the precious pooches

Amber Heard & Johnny Depp

Before their volatile, 15-month marriage imploded in 2016, the couple bonded over their adopted Yorkshire terriers Boo and Pistol. Heard famously smuggled the pups into Australia without a permit while Depp was shooting Pirates of the Caribbean: Dead Men Tell No Tales, but the duo was later forced to fly them back home — via private jet! The Aquaman actress ended up getting a paltry $7 million divorce settlement but was awarded custody of the canines, along with their horse, Arrow.

Tyler Stanaland & Brittany Snow

No hard feelings! Despite their split last September, the Pitch Perfect star and the Selling the OC realtor have made staying friends a top priority — not just for themselves but their dog, Charlie. The pampered pooch, who's been happily splitting his time between the amicable exes, pops up on Snow's Insta ("Not a hair out of place!" she captioned one photo), while the avid surfer regularly posts sunny snaps from — where else? — the beach.



Matthew Lawrence & Cheryl Burke

They managed to reach a divorce settlement after calling it quits last February, but the former DWTS pro and the Boy Meets World alum still fought tooth and claw over their French bulldog, Ysabella. According to court docs obtained by Us, on Jan. 14, Burke was awarded all ownership rights, and Lawrence agreed to give up any documentation or data pertaining to the pup. "Officially a FULL TIME dog mom," Burke gushed on Insta, adding that the year was "off to a great start!"

Drew Barrymore & Tom Green

After filing for divorce barely six months into their marriage in 2001, the funnyman tussled with Barrymore over their chow-yellow Lab mix, Flossie, who'd saved their lives when she woke them up after an early-morning fire started in their L.A. home. The actress won custody of the heroic canine, and after losing her "soulmate sidekick" in 2010, a heartbroken Barrymore flew to India to scatter Flossie's ashes. What an angel!

Kate & Jon Gosselin

The reality stars battled not just over custody of their brood but also butted heads over their German shepherds, Nola and Shoka. At the height of their drawn-out divorce drama, Jon accused his ex of neglecting the pups, which they'd gotten as a Christmas present for the kids. Kate barked back and denied the claim, but Jon tried to settle the matter when he returned the dogs to their breeder in 2009. Eventually, Kate got her way (at least partly), bringing Shoka home.

Mandy Moore & Ryan Adams

Although Moore and Adams didn't have any children during their ill-fated six-year union — the actress later called out the musician for allegedly being emotionally abusive — they did duke it out over their eight pets: six cats and two dogs. At the time of their 2015 divorce, the This Is Us star was left with the entire pack under her care, even though she claimed Adams had agreed to take two of the cats. She went on to seek financial support from the crooner, noting that, at the time, she brought in less than a quarter of the income her estranged spouse did.

Blake Shelton & Miranda Lambert

Lambert, a devoted animal lover and adoption advocate, rescued nine pups during her four-year marriage to the "I'll Name the Dogs" crooner. While divvying up their assets — including homes, cars and horses — went relatively smoothly, the country stars reportedly wrangled over the pooches, especially Emmylou, who became Shelton's favorite after Lambert found her in a ditch in 2012. Shelton eventually backed off and let her keep the whole crew.

SMALL BUT MIGHTY

Amp up your appetizer game with celeb chef Jason Santos' flavorful hush puppies

Whether hosting a get-together or just in the mood to munch, these bite-size delights will satisfy everyone's snack cravings. "I love them because they're so easy to make," Hell's Kitchen star Jason Santos tells Us of his hush puppies, featured in his new cookbook, Simple Fancy. "They can be used as a passed canapé, plated appetizer or even as a side dish." If you're looking for variety, "you can even change them up," he adds. "Use my recipe as a base and flavor them however you see fit!"

SIMPLE FANCY
JASON SANTOS

Jalapeño, Cheddar and Bacon Hush Puppies

YIELD: 2 DOZEN

INGREDIENTS

4 cups all-purpose flour
1 cup cornmeal
4 tsp baking powder
¾ cup sugar
2 tsp salt
½ tsp baking soda
¼ cup onion powder
1 tbsp Cajun spice
1 cup bacon bits
1½ cups grated yellow cheddar
3 cups milk
3 eggs
¼ cup apple cider vinegar
¾ cup canned diced pickled jalapeños
Canola oil, for frying
Salt and pepper mix, to taste
Spicy Creole ranch dressing or red remoulade, for serving

INSTRUCTIONS

① In a large bowl, mix the flour, cornmeal, baking powder, sugar, salt, baking soda, onion powder and Cajun spice; this is the dry mixture.

② In a small bowl, mix the bacon bits, cheddar, milk, eggs, vinegar and jalapeños; this is the wet mix. The vinegar will curdle the milk a little, which is fine.

③ Add the wet ingredients to the dry mixture all at once, and stir until just blended. In a pot, heat canola oil to about 350 degrees. Using a small scoop, place a scoop of the batter into the oil and fry until golden brown and cooked through. Season with salt and pepper mix to taste and serve these with either spicy Creole ranch dressing or red remoulade.

US MUSTS

Lydia's "settled a bit more into who she is as a person," Roden says.

Back On The Prowl

Holland Roden talks to Us about reprising her role as Lydia Martin in Teen Wolf: The Movie

In Teen Wolf: The Movie (Jan. 26, Paramount+), the pack returns to Beacon Hills as a full moon and a new threat wreak havoc. Here, Holland Roden dishes on what to expect from the thriller.

Q: What can you tease about your character, Lydia?

Well, it's been 15 years since the show ended in the Beacon Hills world and Lydia [is living] in San Francisco, doing her adult thing. Something happens that takes her back to that childhood mindset, and the internal crumble Lydia often [experiences] off in the woods somewhere happens in San Francisco, and she has to come back to Beacon Hills.

Q: What do you admire about her?

Her discipline and focus. I am a scatterbrain that could watch paint dry and somehow be entertained. I wish I had Lydia's self-discipline.

Q: What was it like reuniting with your Teen Wolf costars?

It was like coming home. A lot of us are out of town and traveling for work, so the fact that our stars can align this way, it was such a blessing. It's surreal. I'm very grateful.

Q: How was it filming without former love interest Dylan O'Brien?

It's like when you have 11 kids and one's missing. But it's nice that we got as many people together as we could. It's like coming back to a family versus a work environment.

When You Finish Saving the World

Some Sundance indies are so quiet and quirky that they don't see the light of day until well after the premiere. This 2022 entry, which boasts a committed cast and an intriguing first-time screenwriter and director in Jesse Eisenberg, is the latest example. For good reason. Indiana-based Evelyn (Julianne Moore) and her teen son, Ziggy (Finn Wolfhard), lead separate lives: She runs a shelter to help families in need; he's apathetic about the wonders around him — except for his quest to perform his songs on a live stream and become an internet sensation. (The music is a major point of contention.) As one would expect, this pair soon start to discover their similarities amid their extreme differences. That mundane story might have held up if the lead characters were sufficiently interesting. But their tics and neuroses and overall lack of self-awareness grate in a hurry. Sometimes good intentions just aren't enough. MARA REINSTEIN

HAIR LOSS

Annette never felt she had great hair, so she went to the hairdresser often, for treatments and even hair extensions. But with time, her hair felt increasingly thin and fragile. She had to do something.

MY HAIR LOSS WAS FRUSTRATING

"I have always been on the lookout for a good way to keep my hair nourished and healthy. I longed for more volume and less shedding. At the hairdresser they proposed hair care products hich helped a bit, but after visiting my health food store, I learned the value of hair supplements.

THE TRICK THAT WORKED

I never thought of nourishing my hair from within, but the lady at the store recommended Hair Volume™, a Swedish supplement with apple extract, which she told me her customers raved about. She told me to use it at least 3 months, so I bought a box and got started.

The first month I noticed my nails seemed stronger. Then my hair stopped shedding as much and looked fuller and better. That made me feel so happy. Now I am a great fan of Hair Volume™ and recommend it to everyone who wants beautiful and full hair."
